MORE BOMBS IN ROME.

The Windows of the Marquis Sacchetti's Palace Shattered.

Another Shell Discovered Just in Time to Avert an Explosion.

Vatican Officers the Apparent Targets of the Unknown Dynamiters.

ROME, March 21.—Two more bomb explosions occurred in this city last night, being the second and third in less than a week, the first having occurred in Friday last at the Apostolic Palace, the residence of William Potter, the United States Minister.

The first of last night's outrages was perpetrated at the Marquis Sacchetti Grand Marshal of the Papal Court, and has caused a feeling of great anxiety in Vatican circles, in view of the fact that the efforts of the authorities seem in a measure to be directed against the attacks of the Pope's court.

The bomb had been placed within the entrance of the residence, and the noise of the explosion was heard for a great distance.

Fortunately, the only material damage done was the smashing of many windows of the palace, though it was difficult to trace the traces of the explosion.

This affair caused the priests to make their usual vigilas, and during the night another bomb was to be found on the staircase of a house in the via delle quattro fontane.

A bomb was attempted to this house, and it was discovered and removed to prevent an explosion that at all probability would have resulted disastrously to the building and its occupants.
